Announced by: ChipMOS TECHNOLOGIES INC.
Date: January 21, 2016

ChipMOS TECHNOLOGIES INC. (Taiwan Stock Exchange: 8150; "ChipMOS TW") today announced that its Board of Directors has approved the merger of ChipMOS TW with ChipMOS TECHNOLOGIES (Bermuda) LTD. (Nasdaq: IMOS; "IMOS"), the parent company of ChipMOS TW. ChipMOS TW will be the surviving company after the merger and IMOS will cease to exist. As a result of the merger, each IMOS common share will be cancelled and converted into the right to receive US$3.71 in cash, without interest, and 0.9355 American depositary shares (each American depositary share ("ADS") representing twenty (20) new common shares, par value of NT$10 each, to be issued by ChipMOS TW). Based on the average closing prices of IMOS and ChipMOS TW on Nasdaq and the Taiwan Stock Exchange, respectively, for the 3 trading days ending January 20, 2016, and an exchange rate of NT$33.785 to US$1.0, the total consideration for the merger would represent a 14.7% premium. ChipMOS TW's Board of Directors has also approved the issuance of approximately 510,595 thousand common shares of ChipMOS TW which will be represented by the ADSs to be issued as part of the merger consideration, the establishment of the American Depositary Receipt program, and the application for the listing of the ADSs on the Nasdaq.

ChipMOS TW and IMOS have executed the merger agreement for the merger after the meetings of their respective boards of directors. The listing and merger is subject to customary closing conditions, including the approvals of the respective shareholders' meetings of ChipMOS TW and IMOS and the competent governmental authorities. The listing and merger are currently expected to close in the third quarter of 2016.

The purpose of the merger is, among other things, to streamline the structure of the group and reduce operational cost, in order to enhance operation efficiency.
